PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Reno Tales

by Mike Marcucci, District 23 President

A week at an NABC is always interesting and Reno was no different. The fact that the Lavazza team won the Vanderbilt took me back to 2001 when I attended my first NABC in Las Vegas. Got those first gold points. Didn't know what gold points were. Could not understand my partner from Canada jumping up and down when we won our Zip Swiss bracket. Lots of fun taking advantage of the town – gambling a little and having breakfast at 4 a.m. Took golf clubs and played a very cold and windy round at the old Desert Inn course before they closed it. Enjoyed the history of it. Played with a guy from Miami and his girlfriend. Did not break 100 but who cares?

This year, Lavazza did a wire-to-wire job on the Vanderbilt. Lots of strong competition but the Multi-Continent team had their act together. Didn't see the celebration but an NABC+ win just MUST be a thrill no matter how many others are on the resume. Watched one round where Marty Fleisher won out over Meike Wortel. Very serious and very time consuming. Filled in for dummy a few times. Think I deserve a sliver of platinum for that.

The hotels were downtown and connected together – mostly. Got the idea that the El Dorado, Silver Legacy, and Circus Circus are all part of the same conglomerate so the cooperation was understandable. Only had to go outside for one of the ballrooms where most of the NABC+ events were held. Lots of players probably stayed inside for their whole stay and never knew whether it was night or day. They plan it that way, of course.

A fair number of D23 players were there. Hope

Board Passes Balanced Budget

by Kevin Lane, District Director

*Bridge is a game
and should be fun*

I enjoyed the Reno NABC. I did return home a week ago with an upper respiratory infection that I'm just now overcoming. Many players have reported similar health issues which they attribute to the Reno hotels allowing smoking. On the positive side, the main ballroom offered great smoke-free playing conditions and hotels and restaurants were plentiful and reasonably-priced.

At the Reno board meeting, the board balanced the budget. In fact, the board finally approved an operating budget with a surplus of $100K. The board voted to cut a number of costs including $15K in the president's budget. The board worked very hard over the past six months to adjust costs and revenues to absorb substantial increases in technology, cheating prevention and other costs.

The board voted to reduce the Cooperative Advertising Program from a 75% reimbursement to a 50% reimbursement. Clubs and units use this program to subsidize advertising. Although this program is only being reduced for now, the momentum on the board is with eliminating the program entirely so speak up if you feel the program is useful. One problem with this program is that it's very difficult to tell whether the benefits outweigh the costs. I favor giving the new 50% reimbursement level a chance to play out.

The most contentious motion before the board switched responsibility for hearing NABC+ appeals from player committees to the tournament directors. I voted against this motion, but both sides presented strong arguments. The prevailing "TDs should hear NABC+ appeals" side argues that TDs will have more objectivity and that objectivity outweighs any perceived shortcoming in the quality of the decisions. Many on the other side consider the quality of the decisions of paramount importance.

This motion has come up frequently before the board, and I favor reviewing the new scheme for a couple years before entertaining a new vote on the matter.

What I care about is the health of bridge overall. This meeting therefore marked the start of my efforts to raise awareness of the importance of clubs, units and districts – and other people/organizations directly impacting the future of our game. My initial assessment is that a total cultural shift on the board is necessary. The good news is that some other board members share my views and that many very savvy players, employees, ex-employees agree that the prosperity of clubs and teaching programs should be a strategic priority.

I'll share more details on the Reno board meeting in next month's column.

they all enjoyed their travel as much as I did. A few tales may be in this paper from other players for you to enjoy. I haven't seen their articles but know what Fred Upton and John Ramos would like you to hear about. If you haven't been to an NABC yet, grab your favorite partner and you'll have your own stories when you come back!

Back to reality next week and will continue our work to prepare for our D23 priority tasks. Nothing signed yet for an October or February Regional. Your Tournament Committee is looking at all the possibilities. Meanwhile, I hope all our Units and players are looking forward to our Long Beach Regional just before July 4th. Please look for the flyers, line up your partners, and practice – practice- practice!

By the way, the reason it reminded me of 2001 was that I watched Bocchi and Duboin for a round that year and here they were again!

The Platinum Pairs
By John Ramos, Unit 562

The late Norman Kay, one of bridge's legends, has his name attached the Platinum Pairs, and it's a fitting tribute: The event, held at every Spring Nationals since 2010, is arguably the strongest matchpoint contest held in the United States thanks to its rigid platinum-point entry requirement. With my Nationals attendance fairly sporadic over the years, I had never had the chance to play this event before last month, and playing with a new (non D23; sorry, Mitch) partner, I had few expectations other than that I should be prepared to kill or be killed. Luckily, although the latter occurred with regularity, the former was more prevalent. A round from the first session went particularly well for us:

Dlr: S
Vul: N/S

North
♠ J8762
♥ K95
♦ T86
♣ AK

West
♠ AK53
♥ 63
♦ A54
♣ QJ73

East
♠ QT94
♥ AJ872
♦ Q2
♣ T9

South
♠ --
♥ QT4
♦ KJ973
♣ 86542

As North, after my partner passed and RHO opened 1♣, I perpetrated a matchpoints-influenced 1♠ overcall, picking off my opponents' fit and drawing an awkward 2♥ bid from LHO. RHO's 2NT ended the auction, and with the opponents sounding well prepared for a spade lead (and how), I hit on a low diamond. Declarer unhappily saw the queen covered by the king, held up until the third round, and then knocked out one of my high clubs, whereupon I found the play of the king of hearts.

Declarer now could have cashed out for down two, but hoping I had the heart queen, he knocked out my other club, whereupon we took two hearts in addition to our four diamonds and two clubs for down three and a near top. The next deal:

Dlr: W
Vul: E-W

East
♠ 98

♦ K2
♣ KT87

South
♠ AKQJT
♥ --
♦ A873

As North once again, I opened a 14-16 1NT in second chair, and LHO overcalled 2♥, showing hearts and a minor. My partner bid 3♥, a Transfer Lebensohl bid showing spades with at least invitational values, and after my minimum-showing 3♠, he bid 4♦. After my raise to 5♦, he might have bid 6♦, which would have made even on a club lead (details left to the reader), but he chose a higher-scoring strain by jumping to 6♠. My LHO accurately led a trump, giving nothing away, but I drew trumps in four rounds, discarding my two low hearts, after which ace and a diamond forced LHO to lead into one of my AQ tenaces for my twelfth trick. Phew!

At the end of three grueling days – the last of which was played behind screens – my partner and I lay 13th of an original 104 pairs. Seeing our names up there by so many of the game's greats was the thrill of my bridge career to date. I never really thought of matchpoints as my game, but I can't wait to play this event again.

Unit Game: Saturday, April 2, 11:00 a.m.
Individual: Saturday, April 16, 9:30 a.m., La Verne site

The February Unit Game was taken by Fredy and Lulu Minter's 65.4% game. Walter Otto - Clinton Lew were second, Claudia Cochran - Hanan Mogharbel placed third, Richard Patterson - Margie Hall, and Gino Barbieri - Carolyn Siracuse round out the top 5.

In the March Individual, Claudia Cochran took the top spot. Jed Cartagena was second, followed by Roger Boyar, Richard Patterson and Carolyn Siracuse.

The top game this month was 72.9%, turned in by Bill Papa - Vic Sartor. Other winners: Lulu Minter, Linda Tessier, Clint Lew, Penny Barbieri, Pat Radamaker, Fredy Minter, Hanan Mogharbel, Joe Unis, Herb Stampfl, Karen Olin, Mary Miller, Richard Patterson, and Yours Truly.

No promotions this month. Perhaps that's due to the large number that occurred after the first-of-the-year new-category circus. Don't know!

This month it's back to the "why me?" theme. Third seat, no one vulnerable, you find yourself looking at this balanced hand: ♠-- ♥KJT983 ♦AK8652 ♣A.

Well, anyway, the red suits are balanced with each other, and so are the black suits. OK. While you are deciding what to do with this monstrosity, partner opens 3♣, and RHO jumps to 4♠! Oh well, how about 5♦ by you? (5♥ could be right, but the diamonds are fractionally better, so we'll go with that.) LHO bids 5♠, partner goes 6♦, and now it's all pass.

The opening lead is the ♠K, and this is the dummy you have to work with: ♠85 ♥-- ♦QJT4 ♣KQJT953.

So, 13 tricks roll home, and you are +940. Is this bad because you missed the cold grand slam holding only 24 HCP between the two hands? Nope, that's not it. At almost every other table, the contract was 6♦ doubled, +1190. At the one remaining table... 6♦ redoubled, +1580! You were the only one not to get doubled.

Quote for the Month: "A study of economics usually reveals that the best time to buy anything is last year." (Marty Allen) →

Santa Clarita-Antelope Valley by Beth Morrin

We are continuing to profile some of our Inspirational Players in Unit 556. This month we are featuring Hansford Rowe.

Hansford Rowe is an actor and an avid bridge player. He had 60 years in show business and has filmed about 400 commercials. He lived in New York City for 25 years, performing in Broadway and off-Broadway shows. He toured Europe for two months with the Sound of Music and Japan with Porgy and Bess. He moved to California 25 years ago and did about 20 movies and a string of TV episodes. In between jobs, however Hansford always found time to play bridge.

In college he learned to play bridge in the second-floor rafters during lunch break. He did not learn to play duplicate bridge, however, until he came to California. His partner was Helene Wilson with whom he scored 70% in his first duplicate game. His second partner was Bill Brodek, then Hugh Bartlett, and Caroline Tucker. Locally, he now plays with his wife Mira Rowe and their friend, George MacDonald.

Hansford Rowe believes bridge is a fascinating game to play for fun. Like a puzzle it has to be put together with a partner and then reach a happy conclusion. Rand Pinsky, former District 23 District Director, "Not many 91-year-olds win bridge often".

In tournaments, Hansford plays with District 23 president Mike Marcucci. Mike says Hansford is a fine partner and a buddy. Further Mike believes Hansford Rowe as a bridge partner has the following qualities: He is always a true gentleman to the opponents and to his partner. He greets all opponents cheerfully. He is serious about good bridge, always looking to be better and clear up mistakes, Supportive and understanding when opponents commit an irregularity and has superlative manners before, during, and after play. He is a role model for other players.

Unit 561 Awards Luncheon/Game Report

A very successful Awards Luncheon and Game were held on Saturday, March 5, at the 750 Club in Woodland Hills. Awards and free lunches/games were given to all 2015 Mini-McKenney and Ace of Clubs Winners from Unit 561. This was followed by an afternoon game with twenty-three tables of bridge, ably directed by Doug Beagle.

Defibrillator Gift to Unit 561

Special thanks go to Alene Friedman for donating the funds to purchase a defibrillator for Unit 561. The equipment is housed at the 750 Club where several of the regular players are retired medical professionals who are familiar with the usage of the device. Training sessions are planned in the near future for others who wish to learn how to use this life-saving defibrillator. Thanks so much, Alene, from Unit 561 for your generous and thoughtful gift!

GUV Award

Some players have the chance of a lifetime and really blow it. At the recent Reno NABC, I offered Geri Carlson a bet of $100 as to who would finish higher in the qualifying sessions of the Silver Ribbon Pairs. She didn't take it. Too bad Gerri, she and pard qualified for the final and I didn't while suffering through the worst NABC anyone ever had in history. At least I'm a C-Note richer.

Unit Championship Week

April is just chock full of special events. As you can see above, we're beginning with a full week of Unit Championships. Starting April 4, Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Friday afternoons will all be Unit-wide Championships. The Tuesday night game at the Marina will be a Unit Game, as will the Thursday night team game at Beverly Hills. And both weekend games at Beverly Hills will also be Unit Games. Good luck joining Adrienne Green and Jill Thesman, who won the Unit Championship on Sadie Hawkins Day, or Elaine Moore and Tom Shudic, winners of the March 6 Unit Game.

It's Not the Heat

Later in the month, qualifying starts, and ends, for the annual Grand National Teams competitions. Players in the Championship Flight and Flights A, B, and C all will compete for the opportunity to represent our District at the Summer Nationals in Washington, D.C. Flights A (0-6000) and C (0-500 non-Life Masters) will compete April 16-17. The Championship Flight and Flight B (0-2500) will duke it out April 30 and May 1. Each competition will be a Swiss (or round robin) teams event to qualify teams for a knockout final, all to be held at Long Beach. And of course, after our District GNT competition, our West Los Angeles Sectional will take place on May 21 and 22 at Barrington.

Regional Results

Thanks to everyone from our Unit who showed such strong support for the February regional at the Four Points Sheraton. That support is crucial to the continued viability of our tournaments. That's not an idle observation. The District Tournament Committee was forced to cancel this October's tournament, although there is still some hope of a year-end regional.

Irwin and Patricia Jaeger started the regional off by winning the 49er Pairs game on Monday. Myrna Frankel and Lynne Rabineau picked up the victory in the Tuesday morning 299er Pairs game. Leslie Brucker won the Wednesday Gold Rush Pairs. Cecil and Ted Glaessner combined with Karen Byrd and Nancy Heck to double their fun, winning the Wednesday Compact Knockout Teams event and then their bracket of the Thursday Flight B Swiss. Stephanie Young's team won its bracket of the Saturday Compact Knockout. Peter Benjamin won the Saturday Open Pairs and Marion Tumen picked up a win in her bracket of the Sunday Flight B Swiss.

Traveling Man

I went up north in early March to play with my old partner, Ryan Wessels, and had what was probably my most fun declarer experience ever. Facing strong opponents, after a 1♥ opening on my left, I overcalled 2♣ and found myself in 3NT facing a heart lead:

Dummy: ♠AT3 ♥983 ♦A ♣QT7653

Declarer: ♠6 ♥Q742 ♦K64 ♣AKJ42

RHO won the first heart with the king, and took a very long time before deciding that if her partner had spade cards, he might have found a negative double. So she led the ♦Q, her partner encouraging with the 3. I won the trick with dummy's stiff ace and led another → heart. RHO took her ace and persevered in diamonds.

That decision proved unfortunate. I won the king (throwing a spade from dummy) and ran clubs, looking carefully for the seven outstanding diamonds that were higher than my 6. With 4 cards to play, this was the position:

Dummy: ♠AT ♥9 ♦-- ♣3

Declarer: ♠6 ♥Q7 ♦6 ♣--

I led dummy's last club, and RHO had to come down to three cards. Two of them had to be hearts or I'd just cash my last two hearts. Because of the entry situation, a spade discard would defeat an ordinary double squeeze because if I threw my heart threat, RHO could protect diamonds and if I threw my remaining spade, I'd be unable to squeeze LHO because I'd have no way back to dummy after cashing my heart. But RHO started life with KJ94 of spades so if she threw her last spade, her partner's queen would be exposed to a finesse. That left her no choice but to throw her last diamond.

My extra heart wasn't doing me any more good, so

I threw it and led a heart to my hand. LHO had to come down to two cards, and chose to keep a diamond and a spade. I led a spade to dummy's A and the 10 scored as well. My first (and possibly last) double guard squeeze.

Welcome Mat

Joining the ACBL in our Unit this month are Evelyn and Frank Campbell, Jane Holcomb, Joel Kaplan, Sheridan Liechty, Christine O'Brien, and Jacob Segal. Transferring in from elsewhere is Sonia Bubar. Please give both tables of new Unit members a warm welcome when you see them at the table.

Around the Clubs

Beverly Hills saw a 70% game posted by Valerie Aron and Rama Linz. Winning a club championship were Aram Bedros and Peter Benjamin.

As always, the Marina City Club holds its games Tuesday evenings at 7:15 p.m. at 4333 Admiralty Way.

What call do you make?

The first question is "Do you agree with South's second pass?" There are seven scattered soft HCP; not much to write home about, but not close to a Yarborough either. No bid came close to adequately describing the hand on South's second call, but this situation is clear as mud, too. 2♦ is the closest to being a sure plus-score, but hearts will score higher than diamonds if they make the same number of tricks. Highest scoring of all will be passing and letting the vulnerable opponents play 2♣. Well, it's highest scoring if they go down!

I'll start with those who make a negative double the first time.

Lolli: 2♥. At least we're in a seven-card fit, but I would have made a negative double at my first turn to show partner some values, scant as they are.

Sacks: 2♥. I think I would make a negative double the first time. Usually one would avoid a negative double with only three spades, as partner might bid spades with three, but holding four clubs, that seems less likely. If we get beyond our negative double, we will be better placed having shown some real values. Here, I have shown nothing, but I have no clear bid to show I have something, so I feel I am relegated to a simple

2♥ and hope partner bids again. Passing for penalties does not seem right with no aces and no guaranteed trump trick.

Lee: 2♥. It seems clear at matchpoints to play the major. At IMPs there is some appeal to bidding 2♦, planning on raising 2♥ to 3♥, but at matchpoints, we just have to go for the higher scoring strain. [Roger also told me he preferred the negative double on the second round.]

Kantar: 2♥. When two other bids are possible (pass and 2♦), choose a third, 2♥, taking the low road.

Bartusek: 2♥. Why gamble? Seriously, wouldn't everyone often reopen with a double holding 3=6=3=1 distribution?

Goldsmith: 2♦. If partner can make game opposite this, he'll bid again.

Roeder: 2♦. To those who astutely point out that majors score more than minors, I bow down to this galactic truism. It must be said, however, plus scores are good, and it will be very important on many hands to take the tap in the hand with the short clubs. The lack of a heart honor is another detraction in bidding 2♥.

What call do you make?

This hand comes from a recent regional. Mike Savage held this hand. His second and third bids were far from clear, and some of the panelists objected to one or both of them. I would have started with a redouble to show three card heart support. Mike passed in this situation on the actual hand, but he took longer than normal to do it. The opponents called the director and complained. When the directors did a survey among "experts," two of four stated that pass wasn't forcing. Thus, the directors ruled that pass was a logical alternative and ruled the contract as 4♠ undoubled down one. Savage was outraged, claiming pass was clearly forcing. I agree! If a reverse followed by jumping to game doesn't create a force, what does create a force? I would not want to partner an "expert" who thought pass wasn't 100% forcing. The discussion of this problem drew enough attention that John Swanson, writing the counter to this column in "The Forum," used his partner's hand. Roger Lee was on both panels and connected the hands. Let's see what the panel thinks.

Roeder: Pass. The question: Is this a forcing pass? After a reverse, I think so. I would bid before I would double. At best, you will beat this one. When opponents bid to this level red against white, they are either insane or they've got it.

Bartusek: Pass. Partner has the spade length and knows the quality of his trumps; let him decide what to do. My pass is clearly forcing.

Lee: Pass. I suppose I've shown something like this, so I'm happy to hear partner bid or double. I hate 2♦ [I agree, redouble is clear], redouble was a better bid whether it showed 3-card support or extras. [Roger told me on the phone that he thought pass was clearly forcing.]

Goldsmith: Pass. I think we are in a force, since we've bid game on power, so I'll leave this decision up to partner.

Sacks: Pass. Where is our fourth trick on defense? Righty heard me reverse and still kept walking the hand. My partner heard me bid, too, maybe he'll have something to say.

Kantar: Double. East is bidding like a guy who is sacrificing. I will look silly if he isn't.

Lolli: I would have redoubled at my first opportunity to show three hearts. Later in the auction, I would have bid 6♣ to show partner solid clubs. I would expect partner to bid 6♥ on ♥KQJxx, since he knows I have three. If partner has only ♥KJxxx, maybe he'll have the ♦K or ♦QJ. All the panelists will say they find the ♥Q if necessary for a diamond pitch or a red suit squeeze, if playing 6♣. I think 4♥ is an awful bid.

It looks as though the panel thinks pass is forcing. The table opponents were obviously looking for something. The sportsmanship of this bothers me.

What call do you make?

This hand is also from a recent regional, but I added the ♦J accidentally.

Lee: Double, which I think is normal with this shape, especially with a hand that is happy to pass 3M or 3N. If partner bids 3♦ and it's wrong, so be it.

Lolli: Double. I didn't ask partner to bid diamonds did I? If he does, maybe he's got some and we'll be all right.

Bartusek: Double. Aggressive, but seems indicated (don't want to miss a vulnerable game). I don't want to risk losing hearts by overcalling spades. Hopefully we'll be in at least a 7-card fit if partner bids 3♦.

Goldsmith: Double. Pass could be right, but with both majors and moderately short clubs, I prefer to act.

Kantar: 3♠. Edgar Kaplan says: "when in doubt bid your longest suit." This one is for you Edgar. If partner has hearts, I won't tell anyone, Edgar.

Roeder: Pass. If partner cannot bid in balancing seat, I judge game to be against the odds. Also, bidding close games after a preempt often does not pay due to potential bad breaks.

Sacks: Pass. Partner is still allowed to bid. 3♠ is marginal at best, and we might belong in hearts. Double begs for a minus score.

The winning call on the actual hand was to pass. The hand behind you was quite strong.

What call do you make?

This hand is from a regional about 20 years ago.

Sacks: 3♥. This seems right on values. I don't really want to defend 3♦.

Lolli: 3♥. I'll take the mundane raise. At least the ♣K should be in the slot. Double would have been expressing useless information, because they won't be playing it in clubs.

Bartusek: Pass. This could be a massive vulnerable misfit (imagine LHO bidding 3♣ with three clubs and three diamonds). I can always decide to back in with 3♥ over LHO's 3♦ bid.

Goldsmith: Pass. All my stuff is in their suits, so I'll just defend. Hopefully, partner will lead trump.

Kantar: Pass. Cowardliness is rearing its ugly head again. I cannot get myself to bid 3♥. Besides, a 3♣ bid will slow the game down to a crawl.

Lee: Pass, happy to defend with a hand like this.

Roeder: Pass. If it goes 3♦, Pass, Pass to me, I will have another decision. Bidding 3♥ immediately is way too optimistic when hearts may break badly.

The winning action on the actual hand was to double any contract by the opponents. The player presented with the problem did just that, doubling 2NT, and doubling again when 3♣ came to him.

 What call do you make?

This is another hand from the last millennium. Style has changed considerably since then. Few experts would agree with the double now. They would either Pass, overcall INT, or possibly overcall the four-card spade suit (not recommended on hands this strong).

Kantar: In real life if I double 1♦ with a hand like this, my partners don't respond in spades. [No kidding!]

Sacks: 3♠. Einy, meiny ... three or four, I bid 3♠. Good thing my partner did not respond 2♣ to my silly double. [Whew!]

Lee: 3♠, right on values, though I strongly object to the double of 1♦.

Bartusek: 3♠. I don't have many losers when the aces and the ♦Q rate to be onside. Game probably won't take much from partner.

Goldsmith: 3♠. What was the double on the first round? Then, the choice was between pass and 1NT (or maybe 1♠). Are we playing power doubles? A normal maximum for partner is something like ♠AJxxx ♥J ♦xxxx ♣xxx. On the other hand, he could hold ♠Jxxx ♥xxx ♦xx ♣Qxxx. We aren't completely safe at the three-level, but game is in the picture, so I need to invite.

Lolli: 4♠. Bid what I think I can make. Slam is not in the picture, so no need to tell the enemy what my hand is about. I considered 3♠ for about 10 seconds, [oops, a break in tempo in the column] but partner will have a hard time bidding 4♠ on such as: ♠Jxxxx ♥Qx ♦xx ♣xxxx.

Roeder: 4♠. Both the ♦Q and the ♥A look to be well-placed. Not 4♣, as my fifth diamond may be devalued.
