

Ian Morrison, the 36th President of the SBU, died suddenly on 5 May 2018 at the age of 77.

Ian was a rising star in the 1970s, when he seemed to win everything in sight. He was the second player to reach the rank of Grand Master, immediately after Tom Culbertson, and he won the Gold Cup in 1981. He was prominent in bridge administration till the death of his parents in the mid eighties, when he seemed to lose interest in bridge. Recently he has played in Dunfermline Bridge Club with Ian MacRoberts.