

Andrew Robson is widely regarded as one of the finest bridge teachers, players and writers in the world today - and his Master Classes have proved an inspiration for thousands of players around the country. Following the success of previous visits, he is returning to present his ninth Master Class at Lavenham.

Clare Bridge Club meets every Monday evening at the Old School Hall (the building on the right in the photograph above) in Clare - 7.00pm for 7.15pm start. It prides itself on being a friendly club, playing duplicate bridge in comfortable surroundings, with players of all standards - and welcomes visitors and prospective members. ANDREW ROBSON

Master Class

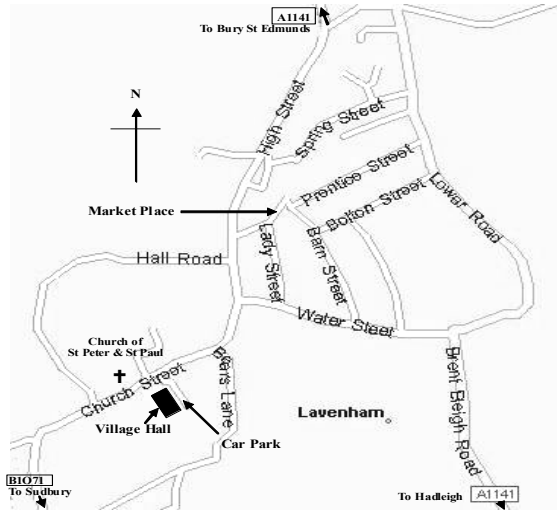

Friday 1 February 2019

Lavenham Village Hall

Start: 10.15 for 10.30 am

Finish by 4.00 pm

Lavenham is approximately 6 miles from Sudbury and 10 miles from Bury St Edmunds. The village hall (Postcode - CO10 9QT) is situated behind The Cock public house.

2018 Programme:

The value of bidding bad hands! Where a bad hand can be really useful and when to bid it. Listening to the Opponents bidding to find well reasoned leads and defences.

Andrew will cover at least two topics of interest to players of all standards during the day.

His Master Class, held at the superb Lavenham village hall, will also offer the opportunity to purchase items from his wide range of books, DVDs, instructional booklets and other teaching aids.

Tickets, costing £35, will include coffee on arrival and a two course lunch with a glass of wine.
