PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

New Folks – 2% Explained

by Mike Marcucci, District 23 President

Last week I talked to an old friend who has been one of our Unit's most tireless workers over the last 45 years. There are a thousand different topics to talk about concerning our game, but what came up was a question about the size of our District. I mentioned that it peaked in 1968 with about 9,700 members, then steadily declined to the 3,500 range by about 2005 and has remained there for the last 10 years. We can't seem to make that membership count rise and it may even again be decreasing.

My friend asked if there was anything she could do about that. Well, there's a question that anyone, including me, has a 100 different suggestions for. I'm sure I can't keep my ideas to one column. There should be staff studies, blue-ribbon panels, and high-paid consultants working on that one. Books should be written and they should be required reading for all players.

Then, earlier this week, I ran into an old friend whom I had not seen in 40 years. Lots of catch-up and glasses of wine later, we hit on retired activities and I hit a gold mine. He golfs a few times a week and plays bridge a few times a week.

Now there's a friend. Too bad he lives up in the SF area. Upon closer exam, I learned that it was not duplicate bridge, but just games with friends. I, of course, launched into stories about the advantages of duplicate and the new places and new friends that come from tournaments around the US. Then the bomb hit – as it has many times before. "Oh, I don't go out to those kinds of games because those people are too serious. Play the wrong card once and they pounce on you with loud cries for the director, etc." How deflating was that?

But there is the start of a solution. Don't all of us know friends like that? They love bridge and may actu-

Upcoming D23 Elections

by Kevin Lane, District Director

Bridge is a game and should be fun

Are you interested in contributing to the district? If you want to run for an officer position, please contact either me or District President

Mike Marcucci.

District officer elections occur this July. I chair the nominations committee. The District 23 President traditionally serves two terms. Mike is finishing his first term, so this election is akin to a "mid-term" election. But the district always needs volunteers, so if you would like to contribute please contact me or Mike and we can discuss the best way for you to advance bridge in Los Angeles County.

Kansas City Board Meeting

This month I continue to report on the Kansas City board meeting.

CEO search: Last month I reported that the board had approved $100K for the CEO search committee to spend on a headhunter to find a CEO, if necessary. This month, I'm pleased to report, the search committee has determined that they will not need to hire a $100K headhunter because a sufficient pool of qualified candidates has expressed interest in the CEO position.

More cost cutting efforts: More cost-cutting was discussed in Kansas City. At this point, I fear our board has gone way overboard in addressing a lower priority issue.

Our board has cut administrative expenses dramatically already, but the Board of Governors requested we re-visit holding yearly meetings in Memphis instead of at the fall NABC. The Board of Governors expressed that annually visiting headquarters might be useful. This reasoning was confounded by the fact that we have an NABC in Memphis in the not too distant future and many of us had just come from visiting headquarters for orientation. But perhaps more importantly, the supposed savings from the location of the fall board meeting is just not there.

I advocated strongly for the idea that spending an hour of the full board's time to try to save $15K is itself the waste of money when the board faces serious problems such as the recent CEO resignation, efforts to make the board more efficient, and multiple six-figure budget issues.

Fallout from dues increase: The board voted to increase the membership dues structure in Kansas City. I request feedback on one particular element of that vote. The increase was implemented mid-year before the new forms could be easily distributed to clubs. I've heard some reports of problems from clubs not having the right forms. If you have encountered problems with enrolling new members, please email me with the details.

2017 GNT D23 Qualifiers

by Howard Einberg

Four teams won the right to represent District 23 at the national finals this July in Toronto. The results are listed below. Several players won more than one event and will need to choose which to compete in. Players can be added to winning teams according to published rules as long as at least three of the winning team players remain on the final roster.

Winners are listed below.

Open Flight

1. Ed Piken, Ron Feldman, Viktor Anikovich, Rama Linz, Ellen Kent, and Bob Kent
2. Howard Einberg, Randy Howard, Lance Kerr, and Tom Reynolds

Flight A

1. Ed Piken, Mark Leonard, Bob Kent, and Paul Markarian
2. Howard Einberg, Randy Howard, Lance Kerr, and Tom Reynolds

Flight B

1. Alex Chen, Tompson Jin, Chi-Chong Yu, Frank Shih, and Liang Fan
2. Rae Yan, Wenjia Yan, Andrew Rottenbacher, and Joerg Rottenbacher

Flight C

1. Rae Yan, Wenjia Yan, Andrew Rottenbacher, Joerg Rottenbacher
2. Jeff Grotenhuis, Bruce Schelden, Zu Ming Cheng, Manzoor Ursani

ally play a lot, but their experiences when they venture out to clubs or tournaments are disappointing. Their viewpoint: Folks don't smile. Folks don't joke around. They don't talk. They rush you. They are not polite. Some are downright nasty. The director may rule unfavorably. They find out rules that they never knew about before! On and on and on!!

It still seems to be "unfavorable game or tournament experiences" that turn folks away from regular attendance or even ACBL membership. We have loads of bridge players around the US that are content to play at home because they have ventured afar and have been pounded into the sand by some unforgettable incident or some thoughtless opponent lighting into some innocent action that the newbie did not even know was not allowed. We have all witnessed such incidents at nearby tables and quietly hoped that the director is quelling the issue peacefully and amiably to all parties. Too bad they cannot always do that.

It is undeniable that most of us have discussed treatment of new players with our friends and have all concluded that being nice to them (and everybody else) makes our game more attractive and enjoyable for all. If you can recall such conclusions, you are probably part of the 98% of players who not only think that way but also act that way. Congratulations.

But continually running into home players who were more impressed by their bad experiences than the good, makes me wonder whether too smiley a picture was painted for them and they were shocked by the "incident" – so much so that their conclusion was not to return. And thus our numbers dwindle rather than climb. I describe not all of the problem, but it is a part.

So I wonder if taking the shock value out of a new player's experience needs some work. My point here is that, when talking to new players, I have always concentrated on the 98% of players who are friendly and wonderful to play with when describing their competition. Talking up the positive without warning them about the negative may have a much bigger impact on their experience than I have thought. Maybe getting them prepared to encounter the 2% so they will not be taken aback quite so much is more proper.

I am going to try changing my approach from now on in talking to new players. I am not going to concentrate quite so much on how nice a time they are going to have in the "bigger" arena. I am going to encourage them as much as possible to join us for duplicate games, but positively point out that we cannot seem to get rid of that last 2% of angry and unthinking players who are only concerned about themselves and could care less about that new player across the table who is dumbfounded at their thoughtless action during the game. The correction in a nasty or impatient tone. The director call without even trying to nicely point out what just happened.

Maybe preparing the new player for real life by not ignoring the negative issues we still deal with (even after 80 years of trying to eliminate them) will allow them to enjoy all duplicate has to offer and psychologically withstand that possibly negative incident they may encounter. Attitude is everything.

Even if only one issue out of hundreds that may encourage more players to engage in our favorite game, painting the whole picture for them falls into the full disclosure arena. We'll let you know if the approach works. It may take some time.

Happy Springtime. See you at the tables.

Linda and her partner Alan Olschwang represented District 23 at the North American Pairs. The pair finished 16th in the event earning 7.62 master points. Linda was featured in the Tues. 70% Game: Marilyn McClintock and Gary Paugh had a 72.92% game on Thurs 4/6 at Clubhouse #3.

Culbertson's Hand, the Mississippi Heart Hand, the deal from the Bennet Murder case, and a hand from Victor Mollo's (actually published by Phillip and Robert King) "The Hog in the 21st Century." The hand was played by Walter the Walrus in INT ... when 7♥ is cold as the cards lie! If you don't know the three "real" deals, hit Google immediately if not sooner. And the book is worth reading, also.

The May Individual will be a FunD game. If that means nothing to you ...well, think "extra master points." No extra entry fee! A portion of the take goes to support the District's North American Pairs and Grand National Teams entrants.

The top score this month was 70.63%, posted by Fredy and Lulu Minter. That just edged out Linda Stuart and Hanan Mogharbel at 70.13%. Others topping the leader board were Vic Sartor, Bill Papa, Joe Unis, Herb Stampfl, Clint Lew, Linda Tessier, Richard Patterson, Walt Otto, Pat Radamaker, Karen Olin, and Mary Miller.

Not a single promotion to report this month. First time in a long time for that!

Don't forget about The Longest Day, coming up next month. If you wish to donate, you can do so most easily by visiting <http://act.alz.org/goto/unit551>.

Our Hand-of-the-Month this time is a double feature, entitled "Falling in Love with Your Hand." One is a "please do," the other is a "please don't." Here we go: Sitting East, vulnerable against not, you deal and find yourself looking at: ♠A7 ♥AKQJ8642 ♦-- ♣J82.

Decisions, decisions! It's a bit heavy for 4♥, and perhaps a bit thin for 2♣. As it turns out, if you open 1♥ the opponents will enter the auction via Michaels and find their 5♣ contract, making unless you get an unlikely diamond lead. So for laughs let's open 2♣. The auction will continue thus:

East	South	West	North
2♣	Pass	2♦*	Pass
2♥	Pass	2NT/3♣*	Pass

Unit Game – Saturday, May 20, 11:00 a.m.

Individual – Saturday, May 6, 9:30 a.m., La Verne

Our Unit Game this month falls after the submission deadline for this article. Sorry about that. Look for two sets of results next time.

In the April Individual, Al Lax again outdistance the field. Hmmm, getting to be a regular occupant there. Handicaps, anyone? (Actually, ACBLScore won't let you run an Individual as a handicap event. Of course there are ways to adjust the score ... heh heh heh.) The event was closely contested: Roger Boyar and Linda Tessier tied for second, with Clint Lew and Margie Hall tying for fourth.

Given the date on which the April game was held... the Director decided to have some fun. Contestants were presented with four... interesting!... hands: the Duke of void, or singleton

Yuck. You have nine tricks in hand – and that’s what you’re going to wind up with, since partner seems trickless. Don’t fall in love with this hand – sign off in 3♥ and take your plus score! It will be a top.

Now for the second half of our double feature. Sitting South, as dealer, at favorable vulnerability, you pick up: ♠AJT97 ♥-- ♦A7 ♣QJ9872. It looks like a normal 1♠ opening, and that’s what you do. LHO overcalls 2♥, partner raises to 2♠, and RHO jumps to 4♥. And you?

It’s pretty clear the opponents have a massive heart fit, and partner doesn’t rate to have more than one defensive trick for your side. 4♠ it is. Pass, pass, 5♥, and ... ? Now it’s time to fall in love with your hand. It’s even less likely that partner has wasted values in hearts, so go 5♠. Even if it’s off 3 somehow, you show a profit, assuming 5♥ makes. (It does, unless the opponents cash the ♠A at trick 1.)

Your birthday comes early when partner puts down ♠Q863 ♥A93 ♦QT6 ♣643.

So far so good, but it gets better! The opening lead is the ♣A, followed by a low diamond. You guess to stick in the ♦10, and RHO contributes the ♦K! No diamond losers. You lead your ♦7 to dummy and run the ♠Q... which holds! Clubs divide 1-3 (needless to say the ace was stiff) and so 11 tricks roll home on a paltry 20 HCP. If you had misguessed the diamonds, your loser would go on the ♥A.

Until next month...

Torrance South Bay Unit Sectional

The annual Torrance South Bay Unit Sectional will once again take place on Memorial Day Weekend May 27-29. Saturday there will be a one session pair event at the South Bay Bridge Club, 24100 Narbonne in Lomita starting at noon. The Sunday and Monday events are at the Tom Rico Center, 24424 Eshelman in Lomita a few blocks from the South Bay Club. Sunday there will be Open Pair and Junior Pair events starting at 10 a.m. and 3 p.m. On Monday, Memorial Day, there will be Swiss and Junior Swiss events starting at 10 a.m. Food will be available for purchase at registration.

Club Championships

The March 24 Club Championship was won by Cal Waller/Betsy Amador in Flight A and Judith Tomic/Norm Imberman in Flight B. On April 5 Gaye Herrington/Jeff Strutzel led Flight A with Beverly Narahara/Carole King ahead in Flight B. The April 7 Club

Championship was captured by Arlene and Stanley Greengard in Flight A with Georgeann Dorn/Joan Johnson on top in Flight B. On April 10 the Flight A leaders were Laura Gastelum/Ray Mack with a tie for Flight B honors between Arlene Greengard/Ernie Frank and Stan Greengard/Mark Raggio.

Team Winners

March 28: Fran Israel, Luis Gamio, Jim Dutton, Bronck Felczer

April 4: Carole Mason, Beverly Narahara, Ernie Frank, Mike Savage

April 18: Gabriela Jackson, Fran Israel, Luis Gamio, Mike Savage

GUV Award

Last month I brought up what I thought was an all-time crazy hand. There is a hand from the recent San Diego Regional that may have topped it.

It occurred in a Swiss match and I held a rather dull holding of: ♠xxx ♥A8xx ♦Jxxx ♣xx. My pard Mike Savage opened 1♦ and RHO Doubled. I thought about just raising diamonds to some level figuring it unlikely on the auction that we had a heart fit. However I did bid 1♥ and boy was I wrong about the heart fit. LHO cue bid 2♦ and Mike leaped to 6♥ which RHO doubled after some thought. The ♠K was led and Mike presented me with ♠-- ♥QT9xxx ♦AKxxxxx ♣--. RHO had all the missing hearts and it was easy enough to play him for them and make the slam. LHO should have listened to his pards Lightner Double and led a diamond for the ruff and a 1-trick set. The opponents are cold for a Grand Slam in either black suit so even down 1 should have been a good result except..... Our teammates doubled 5♥ making with an overtrick.

Television Review

Thanks to some on-line friends for calling this to my attention. Have you been watching the anthology series Fargo on the FX cable network? Neither was I, until I was told that a bridge tournament prominently featured in the action. I caught up with the episode on line, and sure enough, we spent significant screen time at a regional. Moreover, the first two episodes are called “The Law of Vacant Spaces” and “The Principle of Restricted Choice.” Even without the bridge connections, the show was to my taste, but with them, it becomes Must See TV for your Humble Scribe.

By the Shores of Lake Erie

This year’s summer Nationals will be held in Toronto, and by the time this column sees print, the District will have selected its teams for all four flights. Last month, the Flight A (0-6,000) champions were selected and the winning team included Unit member Bob Kent. Bob has won the national Flight A title in the past and we hope he can repeat the feat this year.

Elsewhere on the tournament trail, Ifti Baqai won the Tuesday-Wednesday evening Swiss team event at the San Diego Regional. At the same tournament, Stuart Hemple doubled up, winning his bracket of the Thursday Bracketed Swiss Teams event as well as his bracket of the Friday-Saturday Knockout Teams. Moving up the coast, Phoebe Chang won her bracket on the Sunday Bracketed Swiss at the San Jose Sectional while your Humble Scribe executed the Swiss Gambit to perfection in the course of winning the Sunday A/X Swiss at the Garden Grove Sectional.

The Rest of the Story

I presented this hand in last month’s column. All red at IMPs in second seat, with a pass to you, you hold this collection: ♠J954 ♥QT862 ♦A876 ♣--.

Lefty opens 1♣, announced as “could be short,” and partner bids 2NT. RHO, a passed hand, bids 3♠. I had a red partner who did this at IMPs opposite a passed hand and he was missing quite a few cards in his suits. Also, RHO probably had six spades, but they weren’t good enough for her to open 2♠. I certainly didn’t have the missing honors and partner probably didn’t either so it looks like my opponents can probably diagnose the double fit. I decided I wasn’t selling out short of the six level, so I jammed the auction immediately by bidding 6♥. Probably not what partner was expecting to hear from a passed hand, but he didn’t have to play it. LHO doubled.

The opening lead was the ♣K and partner tracked with: ♠-- ♥KJ954 ♦KJT94 ♣AJ3.

I won on dummy, dropping a spade, and led a trump. LHO won the ace and led the ♠K, ruffed in dummy. I drew the last trump, RHO following and then had to tackle the diamonds. After a lot of thought, I finally decided that RHO probably didn’t bid 3♠ red with two red doubletons and hooked LHO for the ♦Q. This time it was right, scoring up 1660 and 14 IMPs. Teammates were -200 in 4♠ doubled, so finding the diamond was a swing of 23 IMPs.

Go for the Silver

Last chance to make your plans for the Unit’s annual Spring Sectional, to be held at Barrington on May 5 and 6. Game time for Saturday’s single-session events (and a Compact Knockout) will be 10:30 a.m. and 3:15 p.m. The Sunday Swiss will start at 10:30 a.m. and Sunday morning also will feature a single-session Stratified Open Pairs. As a reminder, Unit members who play in our Sectionals are competing for the Jill Meyers Trophy and the Mary Jane Farrell Trophy. Good luck to all entrants.

Welcome Mat

Our Unit’s newest members of the ACBL are Sybil Goldrich, Susan Graber, John and Kimary Miller, Jan Schmidt, Cynthia Swiler, and Thomas Stikes. Transferring into our Unit were Frances Freedman, Mary Meadow, and Clara Stovitz. Please give them a warm West Los Angeles welcome when you see them at the table.

Around the Clubs

Beverly Hills club champions over the last month were Roger and Becky Clough, Rhoda and Lew → Himmell, and Viktor Anikovich and Joan Oliver. The Cloughs had a pair of 70% games, as did Viktor and Rama Linz.

Rob Perlsweig and Pete Benjamin won a club championship at Barrington last month. Stephen Yaffe and Aram Bedros hit 70%.

After resuming play in March, Robin Thayer has decided to shut the doors of the Marina City Bridge Club. We will miss her hospitality but look forward to seeing more of her at the table. Robin has asked this reporter to pass along her thanks to all of the players who have supported her game over the years.

Climbing the Ladder

Our Unit's newest Junior Masters are Marilouise

Bowker and Marci Valner. Harriet Finebaum, Anne Kaplan, and Ellen Levitt have become Club Masters. Reaching Sectional Master status are Gayle Dennis, Carol Katzman, Bonnie Okamoto, and Marilyn Robin, while Mary Williams has become a Regional Master. Lisa Caras and Judy Anne Keaney are now NABC Masters.

Joining the ranks of Life Masters this month were Suzanne Borenstein, Brenda Schonfeld, Debra Stern, and Katherine Weisberg. In fact, Brenda became a Bronze Life Master, along with Michael Abeles. Brian Rose has reached Silver Life Master status, while Mario Mory has become a Sapphire Life Master. Viktor Anikovich is now a Diamond Life Master. Congratulations to all on your accomplishments.

What call do you make?

It's great to have five-card support for partner. It's bad that they own the spade suit. Do we count our hand as a simple raise, limit raise, preemptive raise or focus on hearts with a responsive double? Nothing is a perfect fit.

Arguing for a simple raise.

Goldsmith: 3♣. Second choice is to double, but if partner bids 3♦, retreating to 4♣ would show an extra king It would be an overbid. I'd argue the fifth trump is partial compensation for the overbid.

Meyers: 3♣. There's not enough distribution for 4♣.

Swanson: 3♠. I have too much offense for a single raise; too much defense (and perhaps offense) for a preemptive raise.

Dunitz: 4♣. This feels right on playing strength. Partner will probably choose to defend 4♠ with more than one and will likely bid on with spade shortness.

Bartusek: 4♣. This is close between 3♣ and 4♣. This hand is basically clubs, and if we miss a heart fit, then too bad. Since I am vulnerable, this call can't be made on trash. I assume that the opponent with club shortness will practically always compete to 3♠ over a simple 3♣ raise. Hopefully, this jump, implying a lot of distribution, will stop an opponent from doubling to collect +200 (which would be easier to do if we bid 3♣ and then 4♣). I believe the odds are that they can make exactly 3♠, and that we'll be down one in 4♣. That's a rather narrow target. I like the field if that's the bet.

Lolli: Double. This is responsive, hoping to find a 4-4 heart fit. If they bid up to 4♠ and we haven't found a heart fit, I'll bid 5♣ and hope for the best.

A responsive double would be almost mandatory if their suit were hearts, and we had a side spade suit. On this hand, if we have a two-suit fit, they will have a two-suit fit and own the spade suit. So, finding a heart fit may not do us much good. If this problem was presented at IMPs instead of matchpoints, I suspect that some panelists would have suggested that their preferred action on this imperfect hand were to bid 5♣ and hope that West had a difficult decision whether to bid over 5♣.

What call do you make?

It's rare to see experts have a significant difference of opinion on problems where evaluating what a hand is worth in an auction is the crux of the issue. We have a significant difference of opinion here. One panelist wants to warn partner that his hand is not fully working. Another panelist wants to invite a slam. Two panelists just bid a small slam, both commenting they are worried about missing a grand. The two most aggressive experts cuebid at the six level to invite a grand.

The panelist who wants to stop the train.

Bartusek: Double. It's mandatory to warn partner that I have diamond wastage and to stop bidding. How valuable do you think my diamond tricks are on offense when partner rates to have something like 6=3=0=4 distribution. We should collect at least 500, if not 800. [500 doesn't even cover for our vulnerable game, and 800 is inadequate compensation if we have a small slam, much less a grand.]

Utilizing the forcing nature of the auction to let partner help decide if there is a slam.

Swanson: Pass. Despite the likelihood that my ♦AK is facing a void, this is a great offensive hand. Why not throw this problem back to partner to find out what he thinks? If he bids the expected 5♥, I'll try slam.

A pair of panelists bid 6♥, hoping they haven't missed 7♥.

Lolli: 6♥. I'm more concerned about making seven than I am about making six. I'd like to bid 6♦, but I don't want to tip them off that I have first round control in their suit, just in case partner's club holding is a little shaky [You sneaky devil!]

Dunitz: 6♥. If the ♦K were somewhere else, I would bid 6♦. But I love the top honors and sixth heart, so I will bid 6♥.

Last, we'll hear from the two experts who made a grand slam try.

Goldsmith: 6♦. Partner's 4♦ is a strong raise of hearts, so I have a slam drive. Yes, partner may be upgrading with a diamond void, but he can have as little as ♠AQxxx ♥Qxxx ♦void ♣KJxx, and we'll have play.

Meyers: 6♦. I am not ruling out a grand slam, and I am counting partner to have controls in the blacks; possibly ♠AKQxx ♥xxxx ♦x ♣Axx.

What call do you make?

Unlike the previous problem where the panel had some significant differences of opinion, the panel is unanimous on this one. Even with the brass ring prize of a possible double game swing in the mix, they all agree that bidding is against the odds.

Goldsmith: Pass. If we are making 5♣, we won't play there.

Dunitz: Pass. A computer simulation would probably show a wide range of results on this hand. Searching for a middle of the road action, I give LHO a one-loser suit in spades and an outside card, and then split the remaining high cards between North and East. This leads me to pass.

Swanson: Pass. I have too many potential losers, including several in clubs, to guess that we have a paying save. Who knows, they may be down in 4♠.

Bartusek: Pass. Sure, bidding 5♣ could be right; but bidding on these hands will forever damage the integrity of our bids. Partner will never know whether we have values or not.

Lolli: Pass. I may get a miracle catch from partner, but I'm chicken to enter the auction with this assortment. With West vulnerable at IMPs, I expect him to have some semblance of a hand.

Meyers: PASS. A big resounding pass! I have so many losers.

What call do you make?

Three of the panelists try 1♠ on this difficult rebid problem. Their thoughts aren't the same though. Mark likes to play that 1♠ shows only three. Mitch and Tim are trying to get a low level bid in and hope something good happens thereafter.

Bartusek: 1♠. Easy, this is the only bid that actually describes our hand. [Playing that 1♠ shows three is great for this hand, but is not expert standard. Standard is that 1♠ shows the bottom end of a normal 2♠ rebid, more or less four spades, with a dog meat hand. However, the three spade treatment has merit.] Systemically we would always jump to 2♠ with four trumps and a minimum opening bid; thus, this shows exactly three spades without a better bid available. I will be better placed if and when the auction continues (especially if partner gives a preference back to clubs with four card support – something to keep in mind for those considering a penalty pass here!)

Lolli: 1♠. This is the most flexible call for the time being. Partner's next call should determine our course of action.

Dunitz: 1♠. This is a good problem. 1NT and 2♣ understate my values, 2♥ overstates my values. I'm inclined to bid 1♠. What can possibly go wrong? [It might be interesting to make a list!]

Meyers: 2♠. What I am lacking in number of spades I make up for in distribution and HCP.

Swanson: 2♠. My jump shows a minimum range hand with four spades, not exactly a perfect description. I could show extra values with 3♠, but at matchpoints the first objective is a plus score. Other calls, such as Pass and 2♥ deserve consideration but are too unilateral for me.

Goldsmith: 2NT. An overbid, but I have tricks. I'd much rather overbid than underbid with this hand, and the alternative is to misbid. I'd like 2NT better if we added the ♣T, but with a good suit and excellent controls, a vulnerable game might be a nice prize.

 What call do you make?

East was non-vulnerable in third chair, the dreaded Cole Porter position. We all know the tune, "Anything Goes," and East has given us a real headache. Pass, Double, 3NT, 4♣, and maybe even 5♣ are also in the running. We might like to double, but where do we go when partner bids 4♦?

Swanson: Pass. Did I make that pass in tempo? If partner wasn't a passed hand I would probably double and hope for something good to happen, which doesn't include a diamond bid from partner.

Lolli: 4♣. It's very possible we have a spade fit. But I go for the blah bid of 4♣. On a lucky day, partner will bid 4♦, so we can bid 4♠, and everything is right with the world.

Meyers: 4♣. I would love to say double but I can't stand to hear the dreaded 4♦ bid.

Dunitz: 3NT. Double can certainly work out, but I will get nauseated if partner bids 4♦. So I opt for 3NT. What can possibly go wrong?

Bartusek: 3NT. It's a tough choice between this and passing hoping partner reopens with a double allowing us to get to a spade game). It seems too risky to pass when 3NT might easily make opposite a few key cards in partner's hand. I'm bolstered by the fact that LHO can't make a penalty double, being a passed hand!

Goldsmith: 3NT. Double is flawed, and 4♣ has very little upside, so why not try for the brass ring?

Double has more merit at MPs than it would at IMPs. Most of the advances that partner could make over double are great for us.
