

I am a graduate of Ohio State University - class of '59.

My biggest hobby now is bridge next to tennis that I play 4 times a week.

I started bridge some six years ago and I cannot believe the joy I receive from the game each time I play. I started my journey of learning bridge at the Bridge Center of Baton Rouge. The journey was slow as I stumbled through all the conventions needed to respond to my partner in a bridge language that she could understand. Russian was difficult but bridge is so because it is so subjective. But as I plow through, I found our local bridge club provided a congenial group of people to play with during the week. Not only do you play, but at lunch time the club director will go over important details to learn. The Baton Rouge Bridge Club is certainly the place to learn and grow in your bridge endeavor.
