

I have enjoyed playing bridge most of my life. My grandmother and mother taught me how to play when I was in high school.

I now regularly play with my friends Mary Lewis, Robin Patton and VeeVee Scott. We were together at the tournament in Gatlinburg playing Swiss teams when I finally earned my final red points to achieve my life master status. We had such a good time and are traveling to Nationals this summer so they can earn their remaining points to complete their life master designation. We have so much fun celebrating together and look forward to playing bridge for many years.
