

BBO – A guide to self-alerting

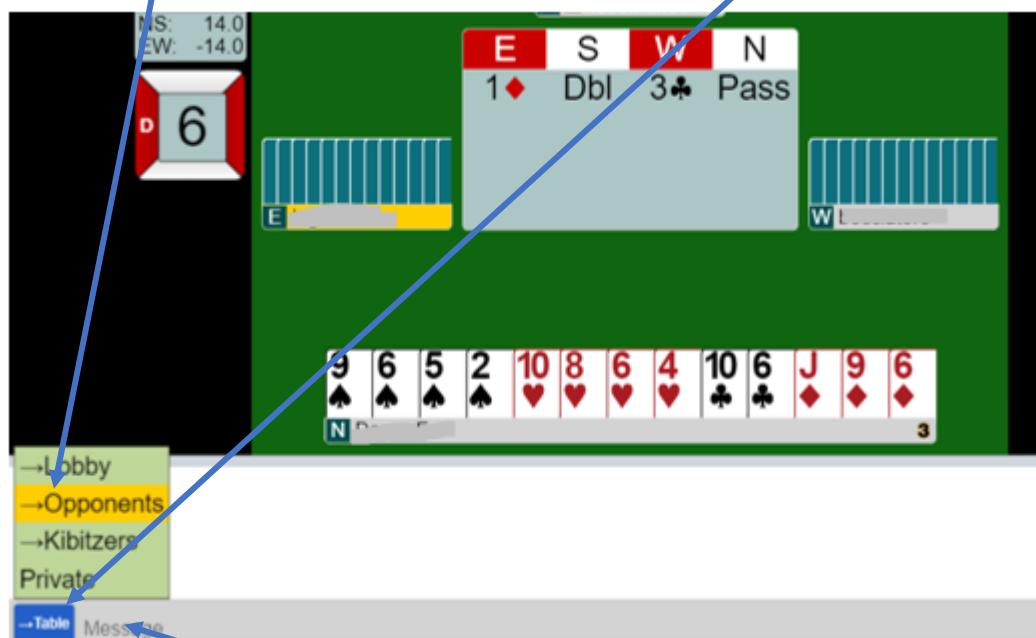

On BBO the idea is you alert your own calls (unlike at the table when you only alert your partner's calls).

If you BEFORE you make your alertable call click the alert button and type in the meaning alongside.

(eg if you are making a transfer bid to hearts, simply type hearts). And then make your bid as normal.

If you forget, you can chat to your opponents, click table, then opponents

And simply type your message

If you chat with table selection, you chat to everyone at your table. Always nice to say hello. Something to practice when you're waiting for the round to end 😊
