

The Round Robin Continues

Session 5 of the first Round Robin saw Wadi Degla take the biggest win. In Session 6 Sporting had a near maximum and Wadi Degla again had a very good result. In the standings Protec remain at the top but with a reduced lead, Sporting are now less than 15 points behind. The star of the round was Wadi Degla who shot up into fourth place.

Tomorrow will be a tough day as three Sessions will be played.

Information for Captains

Very important notes, Kindly circulate to all of your players

1. The BBO accounts for the TDs are as follows :
EBF, EBF_1, EBF_2, EBF_3, EBF_4 and EBF_5
2. At the beginning of each match/session, the TDs have to start more than one table at the same time in order to host all the championship matches and they place the players in their seats according to pre-sent line-up.... Sometimes, we have a late offline players (please check the event regulations for penalty of late arrival at BBO) and this may cause some delay in the other matches/tables.

In order for the TDs to avoid this, they will hold an empty seat for you and they will move to host another match and then back to the late table. For that reason, it is quiet normal that your players might have a message from the TD through the BBO server with the following text

Want to substitute

Would you like to play in Teams tournament # xxxxxx Teams "Egyptian League as a substitute? Your partner will be xxxxxxxx"

YES NO

Please alert your players to accept this request ASAP.

*VERY IMPORTANT NOTES *

The BBO Management recommends that you wait in the main section of BBO when you are about to receive an invitation to play. Different areas of BBO are managed by different servers, so if you are located in the casual section the system may read you as being offline even if you are online.

Also, we use a special procedure in order to make sure that all of our matches are starting at the same time. We start inviting players and set up the team match some minutes before the official starting time. This may result in your partner already sitting (and waiting) at the table of the Pan Arab Inter-Club match while you are still in the lobby. That is totally normal, and is done in order to be more precise on the starting time. We kindly ask all players to just stay in the lobby (main section of BBO or in the competitive section) and wait for our invitation.

Round Robin 5

Sporting

The match between Sporting and El Ahly (2) was important as both were in the tight race to occupy second position and have the chance to gain on the leading team Protec. Less than half a VP separated them at the beginning of the Round.

A bold bid by North to bid game, some might have just invited. West decided against leading the unbid suit and tried declarer's by placing a small diamond on the virtual table, declarer performe won with the ace in dummy and took five rounds of clubs, West shedding two diamonds and a heart and East a spade and a heart. Declarer exited with a heart to West's queen and for reasons unexplained failed to cash the ace of hearts, West has already seen three hearts from the South hand (two were discarded on the clubs) and he cannot possibly have a fourth or he would have responded One Heart. West persevered with the ♠Q and South, perhaps realising that West did not have the correct view ducked and was rewarded when West continued spades allowing an unmakeable contract to succeed. Fortune certainly favoured the brave on this deal.

I would describe North's 2♣ bid as timid but it looked as though it was going to be the right move as there was no obvious game for his side. Indeed had the defence in the other room been a little more dynamic then he would have profited but as it was seven IMPs to Sporting.

If not using a forcing 1NT West has one of those in-between hands. However he elected, not unwisely, to bid 2♦ and when partner showed support the double fit warranted a raise to game. With one of the two red suit finesses working and when the defence decided against cashing their ace of clubs an overtrick was conceded.

As mentioned above West's bid could well be constrained by system. Whatever the system I cannot believe 1NT is the right bid, not with support for partner's opening. Could it be that the 1NT was forcing but East had a momentary lapse? At the end of the hand after North led a club declarer wrote down the embarrassing score of +210. This was six IMPs to El Ahly (2).

Double spade support or good hand

At last the Biltcliffe coup for which I have been waiting. West could have passed out 2♠ but elected to bid on. North was not going to keep quiet with his hand, even though 4♥ should fail by two tricks, he elected to go for the minor suit game. Now step three of the coup, West doubled and as we shall see step four will come to fruition.

Had West led a heart the outcome may well have been different but he chose the ♠A. Too late he now switched to the ♥J taken by declarer's ace. The ♣J was now advanced ducked by West while declarer threw a heart from dummy. The queen was covered by the ace and ruffed in dummy where the ♠K was cashed, rendering the ♠8 master. When it was played East ruffed but South overruffed and cashed the ♣K discarding his losing heart in dummy and now the only loser was the ace of trumps. Eleven tricks.

North could do little else as he did not value his club void when he knew that it was partner's second suit. At this table West demonstrated that an initial heart lead will hold declarer to ten tricks. The effect of the lead is that declarer cannot get back to hand to cash winning clubs and so has to lose a heart. Nine IMPs to Sporting.

Not an easy contract, but not impossible. West cashed the ace of diamonds and exited with a trump. Declarer drew them all and took an extra round, discarding one of each suit from dummy. He then cashed the ♠A and followed with the queen. West was awake and did not take his king. Declarer cashed the ♣A and exited with a spade. West then took his ♣Q and exited with the final spade and so declarer then had to concede a trick to the ♣K. Had he not cashed the ♣A before exiting All West could do would be to play back his last spade and then ♣A and another would crush the opposition. If West does not unblock his ♣Q then he will have to give dummy the ♦K and if he does unblock then the ♣J10 are enough to establish a second club trick.

On the lead of the ♣Q declarer was not required to exercise much grey matter to arrive at ten tricks and six IMPs to El Ahly (2).

At the end the session both teams could look back at things that might have been different but after sixteen boards only one IMP separated the two teams as El Ahly (2) had won 37-36. If either team wishes to challenge for the top spot then they will need to exercise more care.

A Look Back to Last Weekend

Last weekend there were some hands that looked normal, even close to dull, but on further inspection some of them proved very interesting indeed, especially those from the first session of the second day. Here is one.

	♠ AQ8 ♥ K87 ♦ KQ104 ♣ A74

Most Wests opened 1♦ and a large number of West responded 1♠. I prefer a bid of 1♥, why? Because if partner has a four-card major it will not get lost, however if you respond 1♠ then even if partner has four hearts it may be difficult to get them into the auction. I saw this happen a couple of times and the final contract was a miserable 2♠ played by East. However when East bids 1♥ it is not difficult to finish in the heart game. When West supports hearts East hand rockets in value – remember that ninth trump is worth a huge amount so even if West only invites game you should accept. The play is interesting. There is a lead to beat the contract but can you see it, even with all four hands exposed, I suspect not immediately. I also suggest you would not underlead your ace of spades at the table, but that is the only way to break the contract. To make (or break in case of declarer error) requires precise play. The Achilles heel for declarer are, amazingly the ♥87 in the South hand, also he must try and avoid a trump lead from North.

On the normal lead of the king of diamonds obviously declarer must win. Whilst there do not seem to be many losers, neither do there seem to be many tricks, the plan must be to establish two club tricks to go with the ace of diamonds and make seven trump tricks by way of a crossruff. I will spell out the way the contract can be made and give a brief explanation as to why other lines will fail (which are many) it is a surprisingly interesting hand and I do recommend getting a pack of cards out and playing through the various lines – I think, at times, you will be surprised.

So at trick one we win with the ace of diamonds. The only way to make the contract is to immediately ruff a diamond. The intuitive play of a club towards the queen loses if South ducks! He then takes the second round and continues with a third. This will lead to a second trump trick for South – try it and see. If instead a low spade was led with the idea of setting up a crossruff North rises with the king and switches to a trump and now you when you attack clubs South can draw some of your trumps leaving you short.

So after ruffing a diamond you must tackle the clubs, if you play a spade North will win and yet again push a trump through. South will win and can now put partner in with a spade to lead a trump but you rise with the ace and now peacefully go about your crossruff, cashing your clubs on the way. Eventually you will make the final heart in your hand en passant when you lead the fourth round of spades from dummy.

So to make this contract against best defence (after the ♦K lead) you must immediately ruff a diamond, establish the clubs and then duck a spade, if during all this North gets a chance to lead a trump you rise with the ace. When all of this has been accomplished you set about your crossruff, making the final trump in your hand en passant to loud cheers from your supporters.

There were a couple of 'joke' hands.

3NT played from the West is ice cold! Thanks to the void in clubs in the North hand, the jack and ten of diamonds being tripleton, the queen and jack of spades being doubleton and the ace of hearts on side. My guesstimate of the chances of this contract? About one chance in ten thousand.

Six Spades from the West hand is another making contract, again thanks to the void in the club suit in the North hand. This contract is an outright certainty at about 0.2% chance compared with the previous deal. There is one sad person who managed to fail in the contract of 4♠. They received a heart lead which they won in hand, unblocked the ♦KQ and tried to ruff a heart in dummy. They were rudely awakened when South overruffed, cashed the ♣AK and led a third to ensure a trick for his partner's trump king.

I appreciate that West liked his hand and that there was not much room for manoeuvre but is it likely that East can cover four of the five losers in the red suits. An interesting question to check with your partner is what is the meaning of the East's Double, assuming that West's 3♣ was forcing to game. Hopefully his answer will be the same as yours. South was not hard pressed to double and the contract duly failed by one trick. The good news was that the double showed no loss. Undoubled the loss

At this table the contract was in the hands of West who received the lead of the ♠6, taken in hand with the king. Trying to keep what little communication there was between the two hands declarer placed ace and another diamond and was rewarded when the king appeared on the second round. The defence played two rounds of spades, with the lead in dummy declarer came to hand with a club and when the club suit broke 3-3 he had ten tricks and eleven IMPs for Heliopolis.

At the end of a session where the hands were not exciting or swingy Heliopolis finished just ahead of Protec 29-23. a heart was ruffed in dummy. The spade was no
