

When you log into BBO you'll come to the following page:

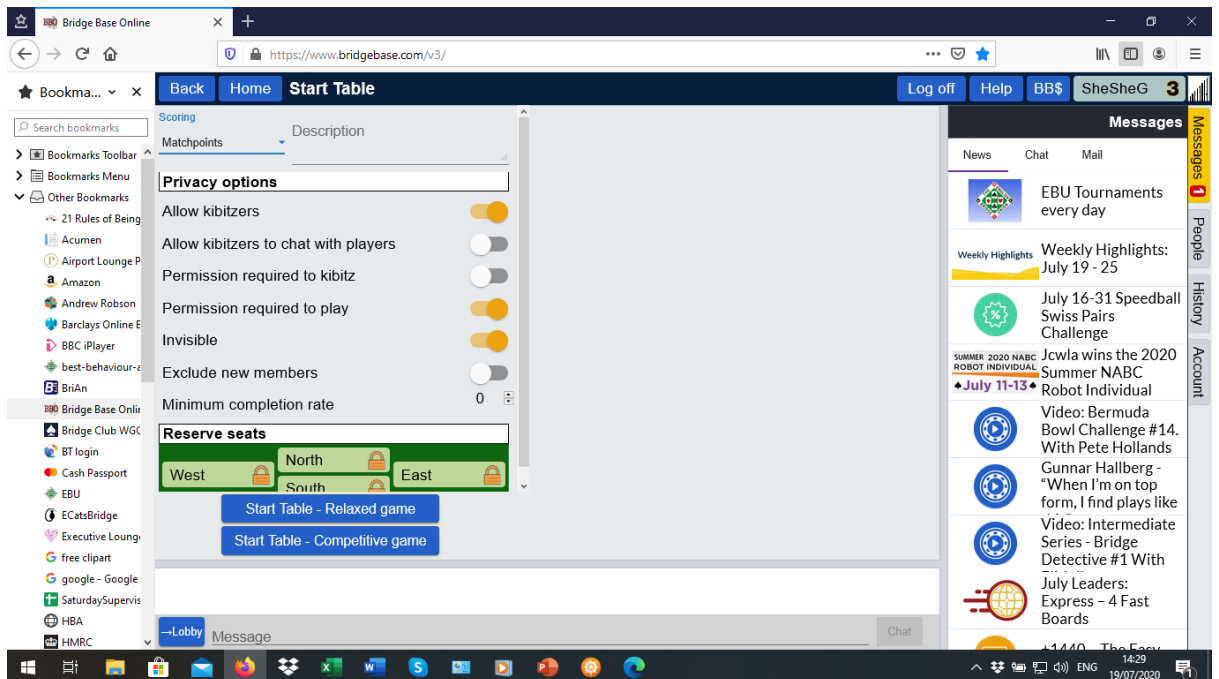

Select Casual and wait for the invite from the host.

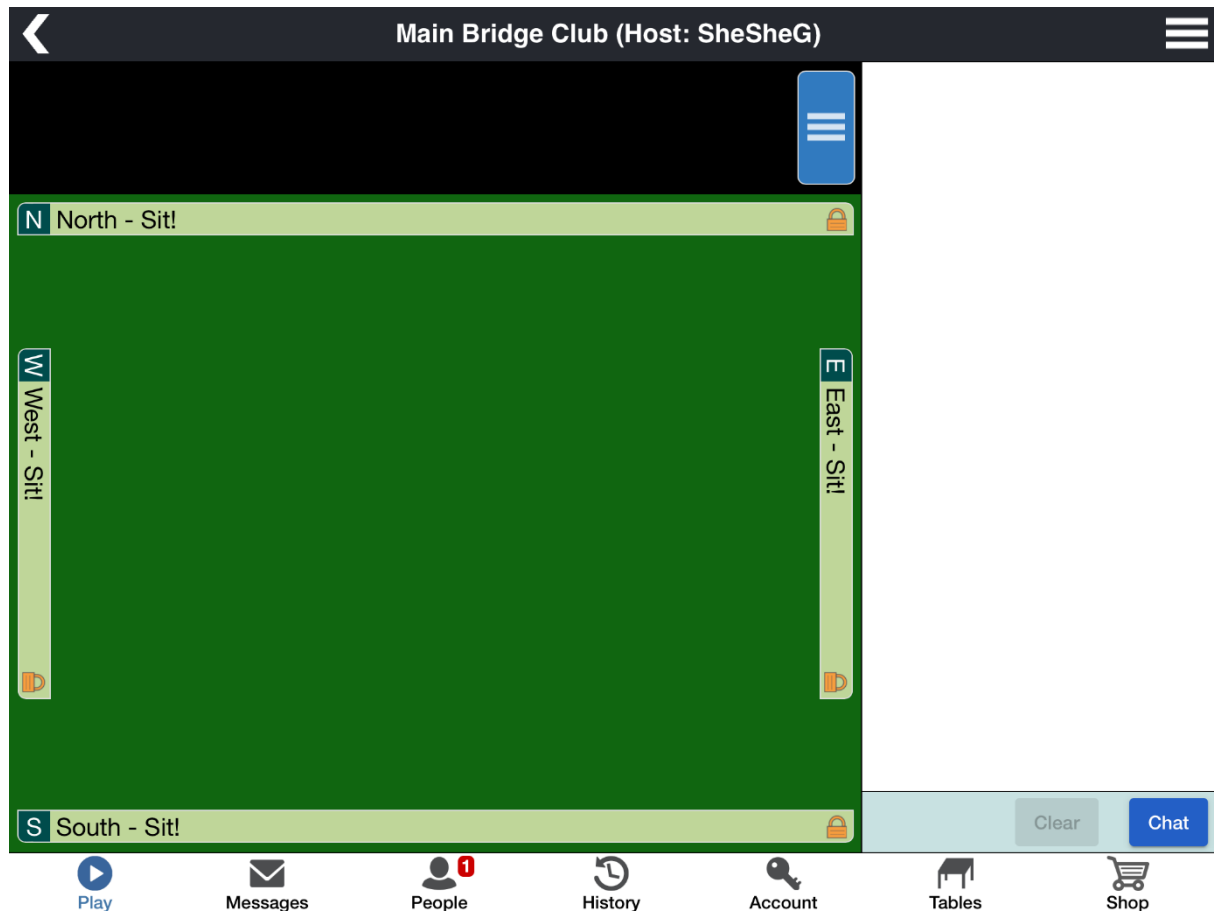

If you are the host then do the following from the next screens:

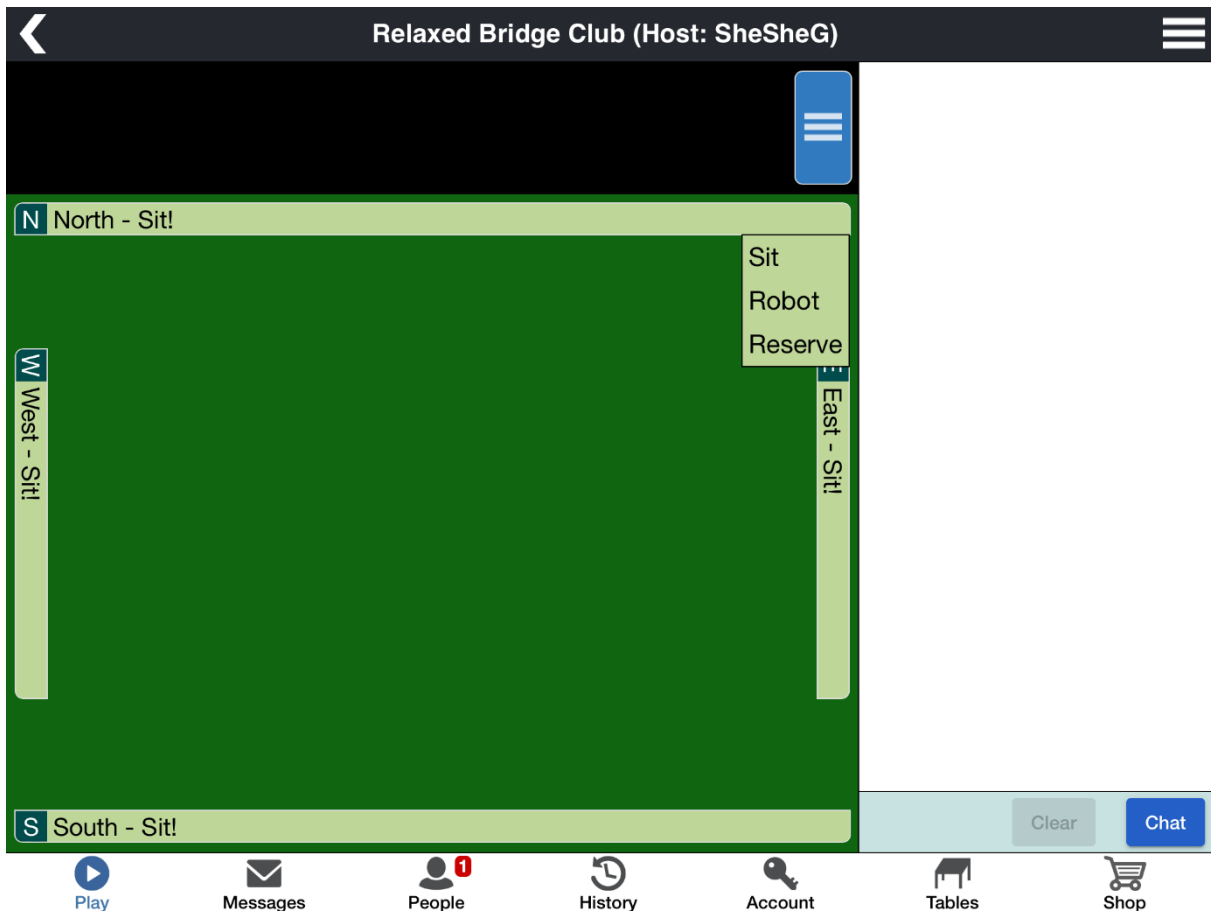

Under Find Your Own Game, select Start a Table, which takes you to this screen when're you need to switch on and off certain options (specifically for SP) as shown below:

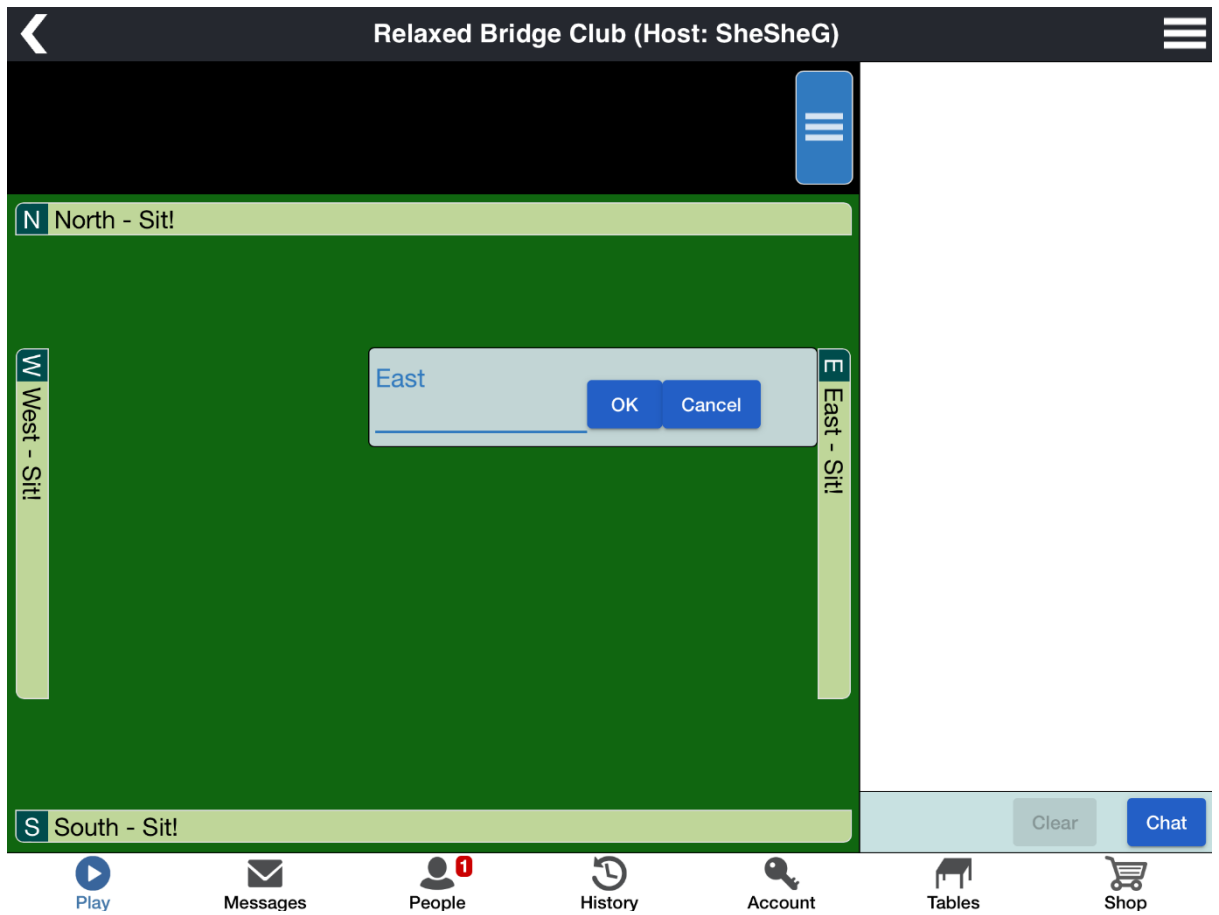

Top left select Match points from the drop down arrow. Switch Invisible on just whilst you set it up. Click Start Table - Relaxed game (don't choose Competitive). You'll reserve your seats on the next screen. Your table will look like this:

Tap on any of the seat names and you'll get the following options:

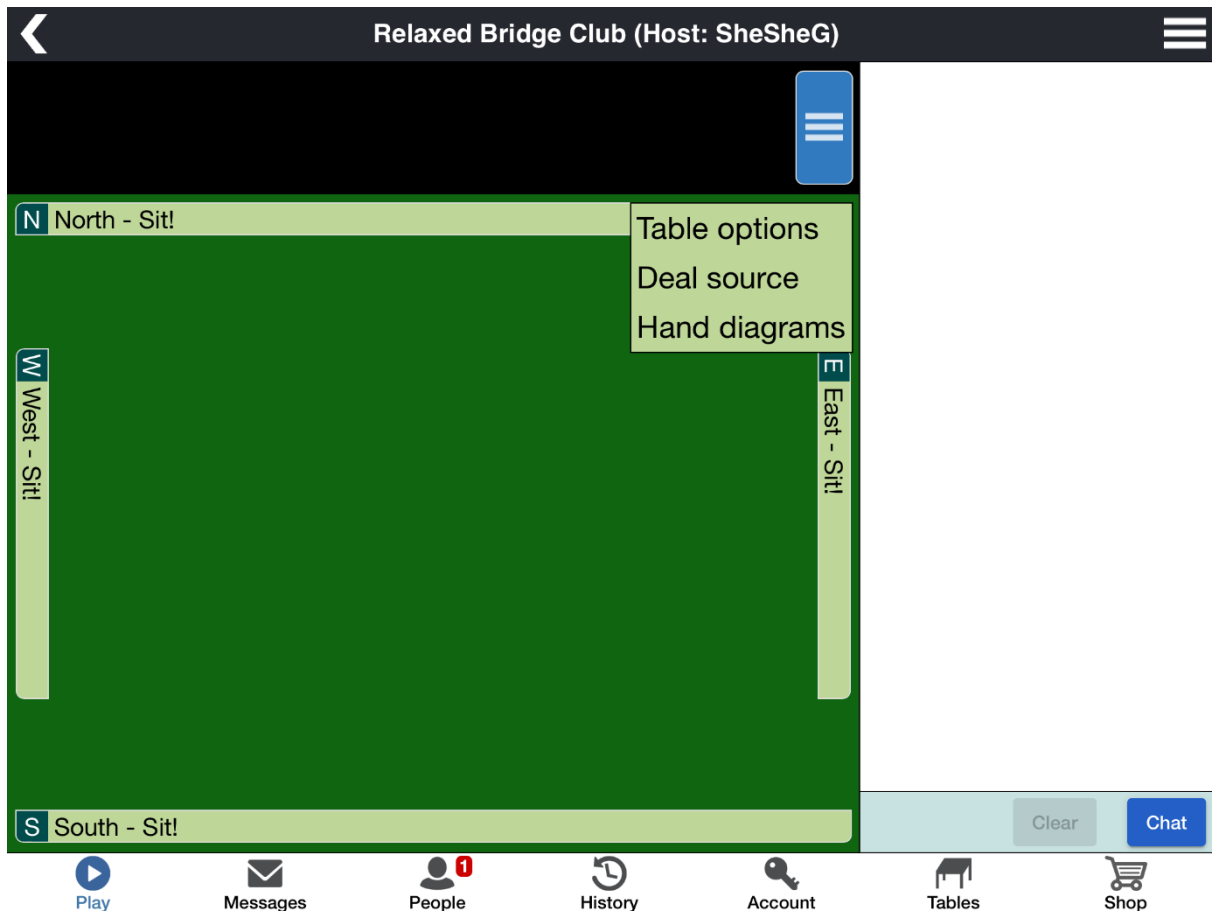

Choose Sit to allocate this seat to yourself as the host. A little crown will appear by your name to denote your host status. Now click on the other place names and select Reserve. An invite screen will appear:

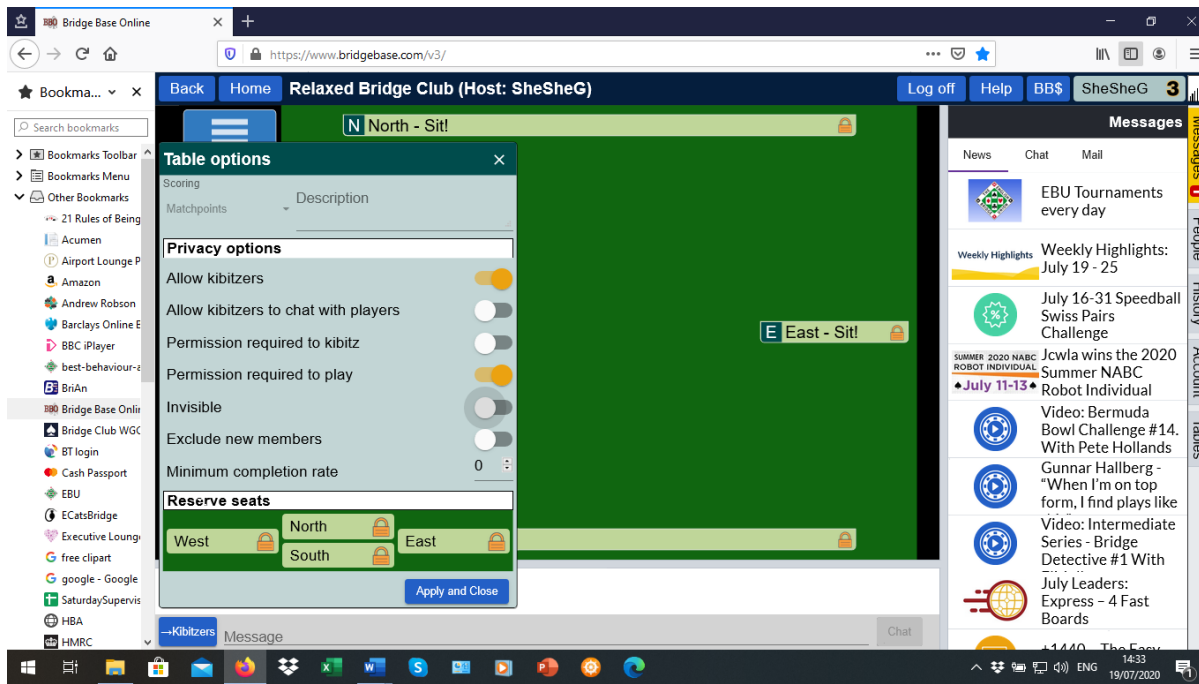

Type the Username of the player required to sit in this seat and then OK.

Once all four players are seated click on the blue box with three horizontal white lines (top right of screen) and select table options:

This will look the same as the initial table set up box. From here you just need to now switch the table from invisible to visible as shown below, then click Apply and Close

The co/host will now be able to see your table to kibitz.
