First you need to save the lin file (that has been sent to you dated for this session) into your Deal Archive.

I've created a folder in mine called PMPs.

Below is a quick YouTube clip on how to do this. It's a little out of date as it says you have to log out and in again to view the hands but that's now been updated. I found if I just clicked off of the folder and back the hands appeared (no peaking before Friday 😊)

Below is a screen shot of my Deal Archive:

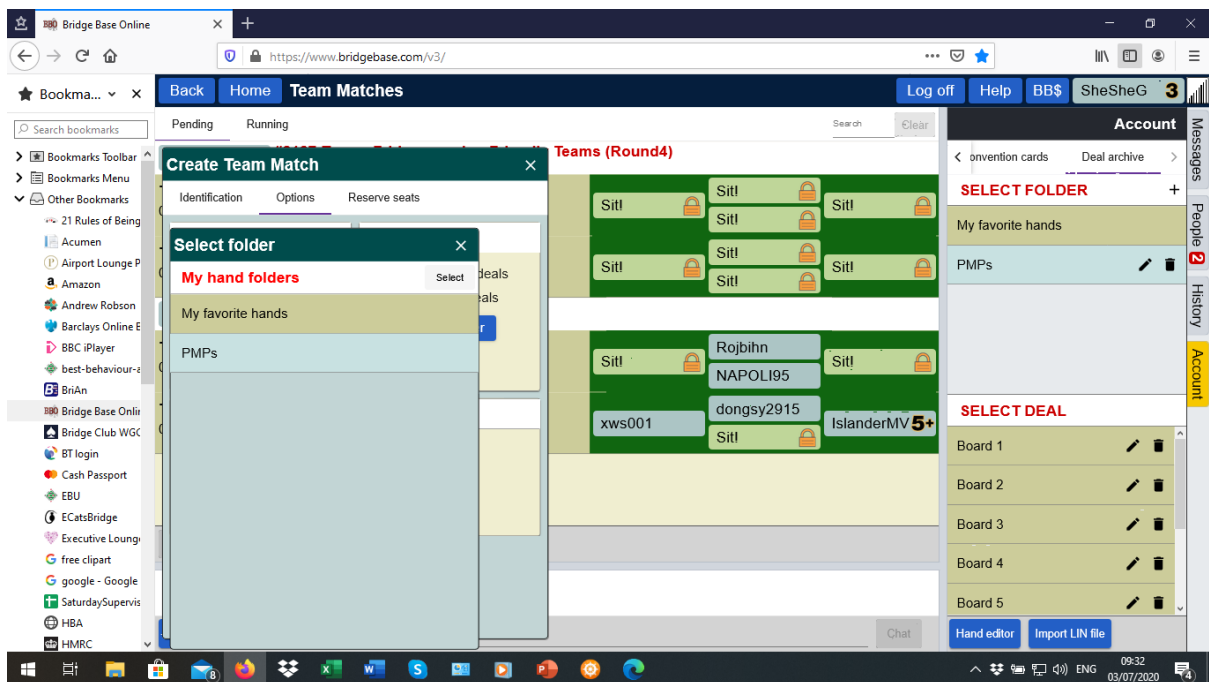

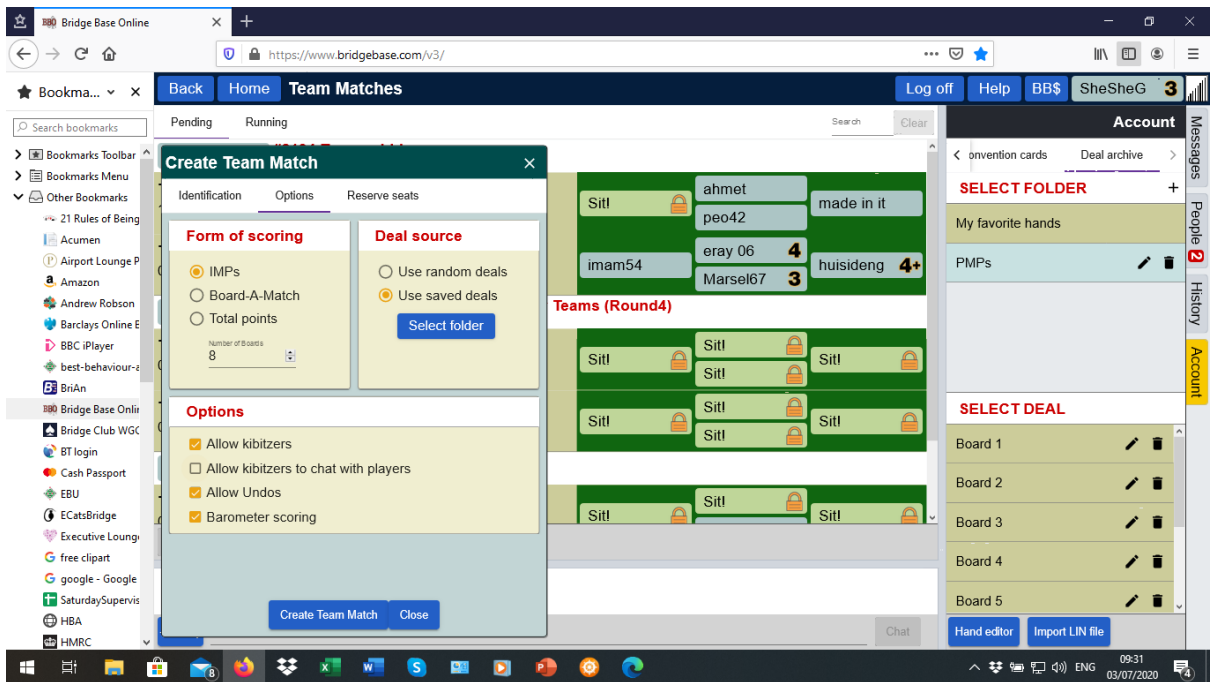

On the day, when setting up your two tables via Team's Match, you'll need to select this deal file under Options.

The YouTube clip below shows you how to do this. I don't know why but once you've selected the file it returns to the same screen with nothing to indicate a deal file is attached or which one has been chosen.

Screen shot below re Options and selecting the deal file from your PMPs folder and the other options you need to select i.e. allow Kibitzers (otherwise Peter can't see your table on BBO). I'd suggest switching off allow Kibitzers to Chat to stop people making silly comments. Peter can talk to you via your Zoom breakout rooms.

Remember; when allocating the players' seats that you need to show your table mates on the sister table, so they swap back to your table once you launch the team's match.

Also, ensure the correct number of boards is selected.
