Our Coffee Mornings are an enjoyable opportunity to chat with people who enjoy Bridge and to get to know the faces behind the BBOnames.
A win, win

We always welcome your feedback

Recently we received a note which ran:

....The etiquette in duplicate bridge clubs is for hands not to be discussed until after a set has been completed. Is this rule different online where the chat line option is available, please?
My partner and I both find it very distracting when the opponents continue to comment on their bidding and play during the game.

This is fair comment. Please use Private Chat for such discussion: On the Chat line click on Table, a PRIVATE option comes up, enter your partner's BBOname there and you can chat directly. Don't forget to click it again to return to chatting to the Table!

We may be an on-line club, but we do talk!!

If you enjoy playing with us, encourage your bridge-playing friends to join. We would like to recruit more members and will make it as easy as possible for them to play with us. If they send us an email (address above) expressing their interest and providing their phone number we will phone them to register them on WOBC. If they aren't familiar with on-line bridge we will talk them through it and if necessary arrange a Casual Game to familiarise them with it before they play in a tournament. It couldn't be easier!
