Roy Edwards

Roy Edwards died in October 2015 after a long battle against cancer.

Roy was passionate about bridge and played in North Birmingham and Wolverhampton Bridge Clubs. He was a Grand Master and successfully competed at club, county and national levels. He made an outstanding contribution to the game. His teaching, coaching and directing inspired players at all levels.

Many players have happy memories of his key role in ensuring good bridge weekends in the Cotswolds and during the Hilton Hotel bridge holidays.

He is sadly missed. Friends and all bridge players are invited to take part in this celebratory competition of Teams of Four – Roy's favourite game.
